The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: the prior art fails to anticipate or render obvious the combination of a driving belt as set forth in claims 1, 8 and 15, and most significantly, requires free relative movement in the longitude direction between metal transverse element and the tension element so as to provide radial play between the tension element and the transverse element such that the transverse element tilts relative to the tension element and contact between the tension element and the transverse elements are solely frictional. In addition, the axial ends of the head part and the body part are provided to contact the belt engaging surfaces of the pulley, wherein the radial height dimension the of the contact surfaces of the head part is at most equal to one third of the radial dimension of the contact surfaces of the body part and is larger than one fifth of that contact surfaces of the body part.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably
